

Contrast Pattern Mining and Its Application for Building Robust Classifiers

Kotagiri Ramamohanarao

Department of Computer Science and Software Engineering
The University of Melbourne
Kotagiri@unimelb.edu.au

Abstract. The ability to distinguish, differentiate and contrast between different data sets is a key objective in data mining. Such ability can assist domain experts to understand their data and can help in building classification models. This presentation will introduce the techniques for contrasting data sets. It will also focus on some important real world applications that illustrate how contrast patterns can be applied effectively for building robust classifiers.