

MEETING ANNOUNCEMENT

The Mathematics Research Center, University of Wisconsin, Madison announces an advanced seminar on

MATHEMATICAL PROGRAMMING

September 11–13, 1972

The seminar will consist of ten invited addresses, delivered over a period of two and one-half days, dealing with various aspects of mathematical programming. The following persons will participate as speakers and session chairmen:

Professor M.L.Balinski, City University of New York (Session Chairman)

Professor G.B.Dantzig, Stanford University (Large-Scale Systems)

Professor E.V.Denardo, Yale University (Dynamic Programming)

Professor D.R.Fulkerson, Cornell University (Network Flows)

Professor R.F.Garfinkel, University of Rochester (Integer Programming)

Dr. R.E.Gomory, IBM Research Center (Integer Programming)

Dr. E.A.Johnson, IBM Research Center (Integer Programming)

Professor R.M.Karp, University of California, Berkeley (Session Chairman)

Professor C.E.Lemke, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (Complementary Problems)

Professor W.F.Lucas, Cornell University (Session Chairman)

Professor G.L.Nemhauser, Cornell University (Integer Programming)

Dr. L.S.Shapley, The RAND Corporation (Game Theory)

Professor A.W.Tucker, Princeton University (Session Chairman)

Dr. P.Wolfe, IBM Research Center (Nonlinear Programming)

Professor R.D.Young, Rice University (Session Chairman)

Those wishing to attend the meeting should send their names and office addresses to Professor T.C.Hu or Dr. S.M.Robinson, c/o Mrs. Gladys G.Moran, Mathematics Research Center, University of Wisconsin-Madison, 610 Walnut Street, Madison, Wisconsin 53706.

A detailed program and registration material will be sent as soon as possible. Attendance is limited to approximately 200 persons.