Correction of mistake in the original version of this paper, "Do the Military's Frontline Psychiatry/Combat and Operational Stress Control Doctrine Help or Harm Veterans?—Part One: Framing the Issue", the sentence "In other words, after systematic review of the available literature and expert testimony, the High Court ruling implies the MoD may have acted unethically toward deployed soldiers by failing to implement frontline psychiatry." should read "In other words, after systematic review of the available literature and expert testimony, the High Court ruling implies the MoD may have acted ethically toward deployed soldiers by failing to implement frontline psychiatry."
